ALL THINGS ARE READY FOR INAUGURATION CEREMONIES AT THE CAPITAL TOMORROW

WOODROW WILSON ARRIVES IN WASHINGTON TODAY AND PREPARES FOR BUSY DAY

FESTIVITIES START WITH A SMOKER BY PRINCETON MEN, IN HONOR OF PRESIDENT-ELECT, THIS EVENING.

WASHINGTON, March 3—Should president-elect Woodrow Wilson emerge from his hotel suite tomorrow morning with a big placard hung on his back bearing the phrase "MY BUSY DAY"—there isn't a man in Washington who would regret that he had overestimated the case.

If the bell-hop who takes Mr. Wilson his latest pitcher of ice water tonight overhears that statesman softly humming to himself—"Wake me early tomorrow, Bellhop, for I'm to be Queen of the May," that sable Hernes will have no just cause for astonishment at such expectations, for Woodrow Wilson must tomorrow carry out a program in the course of 16 hours which has taken two or three months to elaborate.

Into the span of one short day he must compress all the activities which a hundred men have required a winter to outline, and he must carry it off with ease and precision in order that the people may realize that he is to the manner born.

President-elect Wilson left Princeton, N. J., with his family at 11 o'clock this morning aboard the Princeton Special, which also bore hundreds of Princeton students and alumni to Washington. Thomas Nelson Page and a select group of members of the reception committee on the inauguration will be at the Union station when the "Princeton Special" arrives at 4 o'clock this afternoon. First Taste as President—

At the station Mr. Wilson will have a foretaste of the presidential prerogatives, in that he will be received in the president's room in that structure. When the station was erected about five years ago, this special apartment was incorporated in the design, with the understanding that its exclusive use should be for the presidents of the United States. It is not thought that President Taft will object to the use of the room by his successor, even though he does come to claim it a day before the actual inauguration.

The Princeton student body plans to form a body guard at the station until Mr. Wilson's reception is over. The students will be under the direction of Wallace McLean. After President-elect Wilson and his family have exchanged greetings with the reception committee the party, escorted by the Essex troops of New Jersey cavalry and the Princeton students, will proceed from the station to the Shoreham hotel. Here the dust of travel will be removed, and although it is given out that Mr. Wilson will deny himself to callers, while here, there is a rumor that

CABINET IS PREPARED FOR THE SENATE

WILSON SAYS HE WILL GIVE OUT LIST AT FIRST SESSION

HAS SLATE PREPARED BUT THE PUBLIC WILL KNOW NOTHING UNTIL AFTER HE HAS TAKEN THE OATH.

WASHINGTON, March 3—The consensus of opinion today is that Woodrow Wilson will not formally announce the names of the members of his cabinet until after he takes the oath as president tomorrow. It is believed, however, that the list is made up and reposing in some safe place.

The best conjectures today are that the following men will be named: Secretary of state, Bryan; secretary of the treasury, McAdoo; attorney general, Reynolds; secretary of war, Goethals or Judge Huddell of New Jersey; secretary of the navy, Daniels; postmaster general, Burleson; secretary of the interior, Norris; secretary of commerce, Redfield or Brandies; secretary of labor, Congressman Wilson; secretary of agriculture, Gardner of Maine or Page of New York.

James Gray, editor of the Atlanta Journal, is mentioned this afternoon as a possible member of the Wilson cabinet. There are many rumors, also, of other names as possible members of the Wilson official family.

Wilson Ready With Names—

PHILADELPHIA, March 3—Woodrow Wilson, on board his special train, stated this afternoon he will not make known the names of his selections for cabinet positions until the senate is in session after the inauguration and ready to act on the nominations.

"The cabinet is complete, provisionally, of course," said Mr. Wilson, "yet one never can tell what may happen until the last moment. Sometimes the senate meets the afternoon of inauguration day, and if it does so tomorrow I am ready. If not, the cabinet selections will be held until the senate is ready to receive them."

L. M. WAITE TO MANAGE BIG RESORT HOTEL IN THE NORTH

POPULAR HOTEL MAN TO HAVE CHARGE OF SOO-NIPA PARK LODGE AT SUNAPEE LAKE, NEW HAMPSHIRE.

L. M. Waite, proprietor and manager of the Despland hotel, has been appointed manager of the Soo-Nipa Park Lodge at Sunapee lake, New Hampshire, one of the largest and best known summer resort hotels in New England.

For several years Mr. Waite has been manager of the Atlantic House at Narragansett Pier, Rhode Island, during the summer seasons. The Atlantic House is owned by S. T. Browning and Mr. Waite has been associated with him since he entered his employ as a bellboy many years ago.

Mr. Waite, who is president of the Daytona board of trade and secretary of the Hotel Men's Association of Daytona, is one of the successful young resort hotel managers, and the appointment just received is a recognition of his capabilities.

NEW YORK, March 3—Cotton opened firm and at two to seven higher, losing later on selling. There were heavy offerings of May and July. May was quoted at $12.02 and July at $11.94.

CAPITAL IS CROWDED WITH PEOPLE

PRICES OF COMMODITIES ARE BOOSTED BY TRADESPEOPLE

PRESIDENT TAFT SPENDS MUCH OF LAST OFFICIAL DAY SAYING GOODBYE TO HIS MANY FRIENDS.

WASHINGTON, March 3—Visitors from every section of the United States thronged Washington today and every railroad is pouring in trains loaded down with people coming here to witness the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson as president of the United States tomorrow.

The trades people are boosting the prices of commodities from 50 to 1,000 per cent. One hotel received $500 per room for rooms facing the street along which the inaugural parade is to pass. The hotels and restaurants are charging "famine" prices, even rooms in private houses ranging from $5 to $10 per night.

In every case the visitor is being taxed "all the traffic will bear."

President Taft arrived early today at the executive offices to begin his last full day as president of the United States. He spent a good part of the day saying goodbye to senators, representatives and personal friends. Tomorrow afternoon "Mister" Taft will leave for Augusta, Ga.

There were many notable men seen in the hotel corridors, on the streets and in the public buildings today. Among these were William Jennings Bryan and Josephus Daniels, both of whom are mentioned as probable members of the Wilson cabinet.

A holiday spirit prevails everywhere. The weather today is clear and cold.

PRINCETON GIVES WILSON BIG SENDOFF

SPECIAL TRAIN USED TO CARRY PARTY TO CAPITAL

ENTIRE UNDERGRADUATE BODY OF THE UNIVERSITY TURNS OUT TO CHEER THEIR FORMER PRESIDENT.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 3—President-elect Wilson and his family left here shortly before noon today for Washington.

The entire undergraduate body of Princeton university, together with thousands of visitors from surrounding towns turned out to see the Wilson party off.

Long before the hour of departure students began to assemble before the cottage of their former president in Cleveland Lane, where they waited away the time by singing "Nassau Hall" and "Whoop'er up for Woodrow Wilson." When Mr. Wilson, Mrs. Wilson and their daughters left the house shortly before 11 o'clock, they were greeted with a tremendous cheer.

The route to the railway station down Nassau street, was crowded to the curb with cheering townspeople. The student body of Princeton acted as the President-elect's escort. They were divided into two sections. The first section preceded the Wilson carriage, with the inevitable rifle and drum corps, while the second section followed it in the rear.

As the Wilson procession passed, the spectators on Nassau street fell in behind the marching students and accompanied the president-elect to the station, where they over-ran the adjacent streets in an effort to catch a last glimpse of Mr. Wilson.

The Wilson party entered a special train of 13 cars, accompanied by Paul F. Meyers and others of the Princeton undergraduates, who have been responsible for arranging the escort. As the Wilson special pulled out of the station the spectators roared forth a tremendous farewell cheer.

A second train of 13 coaches, packed to the vestibules with cheering Princetonians, left a few minutes after the presidential special, allowing only a sufficient interval to avoid collision. Both trains are scheduled to arrive at Washington at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Though President James Madison was a Princeton graduate the college was then so small and inconspicuous that no student escort was attempted. This, therefore, was Princeton's first opportunity to participate in such a ceremony, and it was carried through with a mingling of solemnity and college exuberance.

WASTE MATTER IN WHOLE WHEAT BREAD BENEFICIAL

The London Lancet, the greatest medical journal in the world, has expressed the opinion that the great increase in appendicitis in Britain is due to the increased use of fine white bread. Appendicitis results from the putrefaction in the large intestine of masses of incompletely digested food. No one can doubt the tendency of fresh white bread to mass and putrefy.

I have said that peanuts should not be roasted because albumen, of which the peanut largely consists, coagulates at 180 degrees, and is then assimilated with difficulty. The same applies to wheat gluten. A large percentage of the gluten with the indigestible matter in whole wheat bread is excreted. Starch is one element of food that is improved by cooking; when thoroughly cooked it is more fully assimilated than any other food element, except sugar. It is natural to suppose, then, that a larger percentage of waste should be excreted from whole wheat than from white bread. But it does not follow that the white bread is better than the brown.

A certain amount of waste matter in the food is beneficial, stimulating naturally the action of the intestines. No one familiar with the physiology of digestion advocates predigested or highly concentrated foods.

In the Barber's Chair.

A big fat man stretched himself out in a barber's chair. The barber, following the usual custom, soaked his face in a 212 degree towel, while he whetted his razor. When he took the towel off the man inquired if he had a fork handy. "I am pretty sure my face is done, but if you have a fork handy you might stick it in and see." -- Atchison Globe.

Woman's "Serfdom."

A Pertinent Question.

There are great men who cannot spell, and small people who object to them. "Spell 'cat,'" said the teacher to the boy at the tail end of the class. "K-a-t," replied the boy. "Silly," replied the teacher. "Can't you spell cat?" "Well," replied the sensible boy, "what does k-a-t spell?"

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS
By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist
HOSPITAL FEEDING.

Attention is called by a professional reader of these Hints to the fact, long ago demonstrated, he says, that the model diet is "contra-indicated" in the experience of hospital feeding—that the sick must have a variety of attractively prepared food, and that therefore the model diet treatment of the sick is erroneous. This is a hasty conclusion and is contradicted by the several cases reported in these Hints, from time to time, of remarkable benefits received by exclusive diets. I have shown that the practice of tempting the appetite of the sick by un-naturally prepared foods, when there is no physiological demand for food, is injurious, and that the prevailing practice of miscellaneous feeding practiced in sanitariums and hospitals is fundamentally wrong. In support of this position I need only mention the result recently announced of a long series of experiments conducted by Dr. Henry O. Benson, dietetic editor of Physiologic Therapeutics, that constipation is essentially due to excessive mixing of incompatible foods and curable only in the proper sense by removing the cause; also that of Dr. Hoyt of Philadelphia, reported in The Medical Council, in treating "The Riddle of Rheumatism," that the diet in this maady should be "as simple and elemental as possible;" not to dwell upon the well known benefits received in certain cases from the milk diet, the flesh diet, the grape diet, and others. Diet is fundamental in health and disease; it requires the most competent professional skill in its investigation and application to treatment, and it must be admitted that its study and therapeutic application have been too long neglected.

Her Conscience Clear.
"Well," said Mrs. Oldcastle, "it looks as if my son had found his place at last. He has become a proctor in admiralty."
After she had studied the matter for a moment Mrs. Gotalotte put an arm around her friend and consolingly said: "Try to bear it the best you can. You'll always have the satisfaction of knowing you done the best you could for him anyhow." — Chicago Record-Herald.

A Limited Habit.
"I see that some of our scientists claim that death is largely a matter of habit, depending upon thought and all that," he said.
"Nonsense!" she replied. "Did you ever know any one who was in the habit of dying?" — Exchange.

Love's Illusions.
Cynicus—I wonder why he never married. Sillicus—I believe he was once disappointed in love. Cynicus—Impossible. No man is ever disappointed in love till he marries.—Philadelphia Record.

Emily Bronte.
G. K. Chesterton has added his meed of praise to Emily Bronte, the woman writer, who of all others has perhaps won most unstinted praise from men. A splendid creature Chesterton calls the author of "Wuthering Heights," and the book itself he finds likewise splendid. "But there is nothing human about it. It might have been written by an eagle."

A Perfect Defense.
"Sam, dear," asked Mrs. Prouty, who had been away from home the greater part of July and August, "what is the matter with the garden?"
"I don't know," answered Sam humbly. "I haven't done anything to it." — Youth's Companion.

Spunky Retort.
Mrs. Peck—Henry, why did you feign sleep last night when I was talking to you? Henry—My dear, I did not feign sleep, though I fain would have slept.—Judge.

NEWS OF THE HOTELS

THE PRINCE GEORGE.
Mrs. H. W. Becker, whose sons are famous as the inventors of the Elmore automobile, arrived Sunday from Clyde, Ohio, and will spend the rest of the season at the Prince George.

Other arrivals of the day are Mr and Mrs J. A. Dowling, Brookline, Mass; Mr and Mrs E. Smith Toronto; Miss Emma S. Bricker, Elmore, O.; Mrs J. A. Van Nie, Minneapolis; J. W. Bantney and wife, Toledo; H. R. Small, H. A. Ramey, St. Louis.

THE RIDGEWOOD.
The regular weekly card party at the Ridgewood was given Friday evening, several tables of both bridge and five hundred being engaged. The winners of the ladies' prizes at bridge were Mrs. L. O. Smith, Philadelphia, and Mrs. E. P. Robinson, Newport, R. I. Mr. Dikerman of Milton, Pa., was the winner of the gentlemen's first bridge prize, while Dr. Hawley of Burlington, Vt., received the second. At the five hundred tables Mrs. C. Garrison of Detroit, drew first honors, and Mrs. E. Stigmaier of Wilkes Barre, Pa., was the second prize winner. Dainty refreshments were served near the close of the evening.

G. S. McCabe, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad system, joined his wife at the Ridgewood today. Mrs. McCabe has been in the city for several days, coming south with M. H. Johnson, who is an officer of the Pennsylvania lines, together with Mrs. Johnson. The party will spend a few weeks at the Ridgewood before returning to Chicago.

Saturday's registrations at the Ridgewood are as follows: M. W. Harding and wife, Miss A. L. Harding, F. W. Prede, Detroit; Geo. S. Ingraham, Mrs. J. V. Meserole, Brooklyn; C. F. Rockey and wife, Oak Park, Ill.; E. J. Keetz and wife, Northampton, Pa.; A. W. Snyder and wife, E. A. Guth and wife, Allentown, Pa.; F. L. Roberts, Bar Harbor; Mr and Mrs A. B. Brewster, New York; Mr and Mrs Chas. A. Brown, A. M. Mueller, Chicago; Mrs. P. L. Grei and daughter, Montgomery, Ala.

THE DESPLAND.
The Saturday evening dance, one of the social events of the week at the Despland, brought one of the largest dancing crowds of the season. Tucker's orchestra furnished excellent music for the dancers, as usual.

John T. Boddie and family of Chicago and Mrs. L. D. Winston and daughters of Virginia, make up a pleasant party that will spend some time at the Despland.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. O'Neill and daughter of Pittsburgh and Geo. K. Reed of Chicago, are anticipating a pleasant stay of a few weeks at the Despland.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Fry, who have been touring the southern part of the state, are back at the hotel for a few weeks.

Dr. Norton L. Wilson of Elizabeth, N. J., is at the Despland for the rest of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Williams of Brooklyn are again at the Despland. Mr. and Mrs. Williams are just back

INDIANA DAY REUNION WAS LARGELY ATTENDED.

The Indiana day reunion held in the Arcade Amusement hall last Saturday afternoon was largely attended and a good social time enjoyed. Probably 200 or more people were in attendance. Manley Booe presided as chairman and made the address of welcome, and interesting speeches were made by Dr. S. P. Leland of this city and Mr. Huter of Athens, Ind. There were several entertainment features, among them an exhibition of fancy skating by B. A. Powers and following the social session in the amusement hall the crowd enjoyed the moving picture show. These reunions of people of the various states form a pleasant feature of the season and give the visitors in the city an opportunity to meet and fraternize with one another.

The auction sale of lots in the W. W. Marshall tract on West Magnolia avenue will take place tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, continuing until 1 o'clock, p. m. This property is well located, being within easy reach of the business section of the city and has been provided with permanent streets and otherwise improved. On the following day 20 choice lots and two pieces of residence property will be sold in Mr. Marshall's tract at Daytona Beach. Mr. Marshall guarantees that all lots offered will be sold to highest bidder if two or more bids are made.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Way to Get Sewer System—

Editor Daily News:

The question of how to establish a sewer system in Daytona would be best answered by the city engaging the best engineer to be had for the purpose to tell us what is the best system to adopt for our needs, and then order him to go ahead and design such a system.

I fancy I hear somebody say we have already spent $1,000, or more, for just that thing. I admit we have. It is on record we have, but there is nothing on record showing the city council has made use of that investment. The finance committee of the city council says we have no money to spend for that purpose and no way of getting it.

Gentlemen, let me suggest how easy you can get it. If you but give the people a chance to vote it into your hands, by way of the bond issue route, you will then be able, with the services of the best consulting engineer and sanitary expert in the land, which would relieve you of all doubt and responsibility of not getting the best system we are willing to pay for. DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

Food Specialist

NO ONE METHOD A CURE-ALL.

While I believe diet to be the most important factor in life, after thought, and therefore the most important factor (after thought) in maintaining and restoring health, yet diet is not a cure-all.

As there is no single means by which life is maintained, so there is no single means of maintaining health or of restoring it when it has been lost. I often hear people say, "I have tried drugs, and osteopathy, Christian Science (or suggestion) and electricity, the movement cure and the water cure, and none of them has done me any good, and now I am going to see what there is in dieting."

Such a speech indicates a narrow view of the work of the physician and a grave misunderstanding of the nature of health and healing. I have a large acquaintance among physicians and I don't know one who prescribes drugs and ignores dieting. The average doctor believes in using all means of cure, and especially diet, as supplemental to medicine.

No sane, liberally educated physician who is successful in the practice of a specialty, finds it necessary to overestimate the relative importance of his specialty. It is the imperfectly informed person who claims for some one method of treatment, valuable in certain cases, the impossible virtue of a cure-all. The only way in which almost any therapeutic agent can cure almost any sickness is by becoming a means of suggestion. But let the mental condition be perfect yet withhold the right food and the patient must ultimately die. And suggestion need not be made the basis of a cure to be a means of faith cure.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Thursday evening the "Fire Eaters" defeated the "Firebrands" in a spirited game of basket ball, by the score of 16 to 10. The game was played on the high school court which has recently been fitted with electric lights.

Friday afternoon the most exciting interclass game of the year was played, the Sophomore-Junior girls being defeated by the Freshmen, 7 to 6. A good crowd witnessed the game and spurred on the contestants by loud and almost continuous cheering. Miss Lively refereed.

The members of the senior class spent Saturday at the Mailey beach cottage, enjoying the surf bathing and other sports of the beach. A delicious luncheon was served in the cottage to which all did full justice.

The chemistry class recently made a trip to the gas plant and spent an hour or so in looking over the plant with Mr. Woodhead.

Friday evening the high school will present "Twelfth Night" at the school auditorium. Appropriate costumes have been provided and the play bids fair to be one of the best ever put on by the local high school. The money realized from the entertainment will be used to purchase more books for the school library, and as popular prices will prevail it is hoped a good crowd will turn out.

A Home Trade Song.

Your support you should give
To the place where you live,
And you ought to help the old town grow.
Tis the place you should love
Every other place above,
Which is why we would remark as we go:

CHORUS.

Home trade! Home trade!
It's way ahead of room trade.
So kindly keep your dollars in the town.
Spend them there,
But never, never send them
Around the world to wander up and down.

Though the town be but small,
Not a big burg at all,
'Tis the place where all your interests are at,
And you'll be very wise
And your pocket it will rise
If you'll paste this little chorus in your hat:

CHORUS.

Home trade! Home trade!
It's way ahead of room trade.
So kindly cut the catalogues out.
Chase them, erase them
And never try to trace them.
But plant your dollars here at home to sprout.

Her Intense Sorrow.

He—I called to see you last evening and the servant told me you were not in. She—Yes; I was sorry to have missed you. He—I thought you must be. I heard you laughing upstairs in such grief stricken tones that I almost wept myself out of sympathy.

RESIDENT OF HOLLY HILL

DIES IN ADVANCED YEARS.

William Brough Heath died in the early hours of Sunday morning at the advanced age of 84 years, following an illness of several weeks' duration.

Funeral services were held in the Bingham & Maley undertaking parlors at 10 o'clock this morning, conducted by Rev. D. H. Rutter, pastor of the First M. E. church of this city, and the interment was made in Pinewood cemetery, Daytona Beach.

Mr. Heath was born in Bristol, England, in 1829. He came to this country in 1851 and spent several years in St. Louis, Mo. Just before the beginning of the Civil war he returned to England, where he married Miss Louisa Hargrave and after a few years residence moved with his family to Canada. About 20 years ago Mr. Heath and his wife came to Florida in company with their son, W. H. Heath, and family and for some years resided on the St. Johns river in the vi-city of Palatka. Later they all removed to Holly Hill and since the death of this wife, 10 years ago the old gentleman has been making his home with his son and family in that town. He had been in failing health for three or four years. He was, in his religious views, a Quaker, and a member of the Society of Friends.

The deceased is survived by five children, W. H. Heath, of Holly Hill; Mrs. J. M. Dillon, of London, Canada; Mrs. F. R. Morris and Malcolm Heath, Cranbrook, British Columbia, and F. H. Heath, of Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, all of whom, with the exception of the last named, have visited this place.

Five hundred was played and prizes were won by Mrs. John Scott, Miss Mabel Scott and Mrs. C. C. Fingar. After the cards refreshments were served. The guests present were Mrs. C. C. Fingar, Mrs. John Scott, Miss Mabel Scott, Mrs. Thornton M. Lathrop of New London, Conn., Mrs. G. A. Foye, Mrs. Osie Crenshaw and Mrs. W. F. Gille, of Daytona, Mrs. James Lathrop, of Pine Orchard, Conn., and the hostess, Mrs. E. F. Lathrop.

BOUND OVER ON CHARGE

OF INTENT TO MURDER.

On a charge of assault with intent to commit murder, Henry Williams, black, was given a preliminary hearing before Justice M. H. Zuber and bound over for trial at the next term of the criminal court. His bond was fixed at $200, which he was unable to furnish. Williams is alleged to have chased Will Jordan, also colored, out of his (Jordan's) own house in Midway with a knife. Williams is said to have been intoxicated.

Naturalists generally appear to have accepted the opinion that ants are not able to perceive any sounds that are audible to human ears, but there are those who controvert this opinion. One investigator conducted careful experiments with four species of American ants, from which he deduced the conclusion that these species, at least, were able to perceive sounds, but whether they did it by means of organs of hearing, or through the sense of touch being excited by atmospheric vibrations, he was unable to ascertain. This experimenter inclines to the opinion that ants do really hear, as some individuals showed a perception of the direction of the sound, such as that of a shrill whistle, and others, which were not disturbed and violently shaken in their glass prisons seemed greatly to be perturbed by shrill sounds.—Harper's Weekly.

Put Away Despair.

Fight like a good soldier, and if thou sometimes fall through frailty, take again greater strength than before, trusting in My more abundant grace.—Thomas a Kempis.

Beyond Power to Injure.

The tyrant will bind—what? The leg. He will take away—what? The head. What, then, can he not bind and not take away? The will. And hence that precept of the ancients, "Know Thyself."—Epictetus.

Saws Without Teeth.

The development of circular disks of iron, turning with great velocity, but possessing no teeth on the edge, for sawing material, is common in many workshops.

Platinum.

Referring to platinum, books say that "this metal has never yet been successfully deposited as a protecting coating to other metals" and add "the metal to be plated must be coppered."

A UNIVERSAL PASSION.

When Theodore Roosevelt stood up with a bullet in his breast and made his speech the world was thrilled by the spectacle of high courage.

It was a big first page story.

But—

If on that day you turned to the inside pages of your newspaper you read a story fully as stirring, though on a lesser stage.

Old James Flannery, sixty-eight, was a crossing flagman in Syracuse, N. Y. On that day he was struck by a runaway taxicab. Holding to the machine, he was dragged along by it, bruised as to hands and back and arms, and almost killed.

A crowd gathered, and they started to take the old man to the hospital.

Just then Flannery heard the whistle of an approaching train. It was like the clarion call of a bugle to the soldier. He broke through the crowd and, though almost fainting, wiggled his train across.

And again:

William Hugh of Gary gave up his leg and life to the surgeons in order that the life of a girl whom he had never seen might be saved and died with a smile, saying, "I am glad I did it."

He well deserved the tears of an admiring people.

But on the day he died a dozen persons in Mason City, Ia., voluntarily gave great patches of their skin for a similar operation.

In short—

Scarcely may you name a heroic deed done with altruistic passion but that it may be matched by others full as glorious.

During the past few weeks, on the faraway plains of Thrace, in the bloody conflict between the Balkan allies and the Turks, have been enacted a thousand deeds of lofty unselfishness.

Bulgaria's queen served in a hospital as a nurse, clad in a nurse's garb and doing a nurse's work. Other women of princely birth served in like capacity.

The facts are—

The whole world, as never before, is being stirred by the divine passion for service. That passion knows no boundary of race. It is as universal in its scope and as cheering—as the warmth of the glorious sun.

A City on the Cliffs.

Precisely why the town of Bonifacio, in Corsica, is built to the sheer edge of the cliff which forms the sea frontage of that part of the island is a question always asked by the traveler who views Bonifacio for the first time, and he reiterates his question when he observes, upon visiting the environs of the place, that there is plenty of room for the town to have spread out in an inland direction. The early Corsicans apparently thought that farm land was worth more than city real estate and so crowded their dwellings to the dizzy edge of their 200 foot precipice. One's first impression is that these houses, with their walls on a vertical plane with the cliff, were purposely so situated that the body of a victim of a dark vendetta murder might be conveniently dropped out of the window into the sea beneath, with no one the wiser. Certainly there is a suggestion of romance and mystery in the aspect of the town. It forms, at any rate, one of the oddest sky lines in the world.

Rose Tinted Mountains.

The rose light that tinges so beautifully the summits of lofty, snow clad mountains before sunrise and after sunset is due to the fact that the yellow and red rays of light possess more penetrative power than the blue. The first mentioned rays make their way through stretches of the atmosphere which entirely arrest and turn back the blue, and they do this the more especially if the air be laden at the time with extraneous particles that augment their opacity. When the sun is below the horizon the red and yellow rays struggle on through the air as far as the snowy heights, dropping their associates by the way, and thus paint their fleecy surfaces with red and yellow tinted light. This roseate afterglow is very beautifully seen on the Jungfrau. The broad based cone is suddenly covered in the deepening twilight with the crimson hue of the rose, and this gradually fades until the whole has vanished into darkness.—Harper's.

Credit Societies.

There are now 3,456 urban and rural co-operative credit societies in India, with a membership of 226,958 and a working capital of $3,442,580, of which only $240,590 is contributed by the government. These figures represent the work of about seven years.

Not Selfish.

"Mary," said the sick man to his wife, after the doctor had pronounced it a case of smallpox, "if any of my creditors call, tell them that I am at least in a condition to give them something."—Tilt-Bits.

The Vigilant Vesper.

A Chicago woman was praying at another day changed with passing clouds. She prayed often and vainly, only, if the protesting neighbors can be believed, and finally became a disturbing element.

Of course nobody contends that this enthusiastic devotee was heard because of her loud praying. The still small voice would have carried the petition quite as well. But to arrest a person for praying seems an anomaly.

It recalls the story of the verger in Westminster abbey who had a foreigner arrested for kneeling and praying in the main aisle of the building.

"But," said the judge, "why do you object to the man's devotional act?"

The verger was amazed.

"Why, your honor," he stuttered, "if I didn't make an example of this man people would be praying all over the place!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Plumber.

I telephoned the plumber, And right on time he came. He truly was a hummer, And should be known to fame. He spent no time in gazing, But found out what was wrong, And what is most amazing, He had his tools along.

He did not con the matter For half an hour or more, No solder did he spatter Upon the kitchen floor, With seal still undiminished He worked away for us, And when the job was finished He cleared up all the mess!

With beating heart I waited His memo of expense Until he lightly stated His bill was fifty cents! My face grew pale and haggard, I gave a muffled scream, Into a chair I staggered And woke—it was a dream! —Pittsburgh Dispatch.

What It Meant.

The man gave the girl a betrothal ring and she shrieked with delight.

"What is this word you have had engraved on the inside of it?" she asked when her first rapture had subsided.

"The word is 'Mizpah.' All engagement rings have that word engraved on them nowadays. It's quite the fashion."

"I've seen it before. But what does it mean?"

"It's from Shakespeare, I believe. It means, 'When Shall We Three Meet Again?'"—New York Globe.

When.

They sing of "when this" and they sing of "when that" In rustic or urban refrain. "When frost hits the pumpkin," familiar and pat.

We hear it again and again. "When father comes home" and "When mother makes pies." "When we live wide awake," "When we dream."

But we'll hear the most welcome of all When the janitor turns on the steam.

The sun as it shines on the far distant hill Is scarcely the friend that we knew. And you feel a pervading, insidious chill As at evening he drifts from your view. However your fancy inclines you to rime That tells of the wood's golden gleam, You long for the plain, solid bliss of the time When the janitor turns on the steam. —Washington Star.

Waiting.

Here is one to which the legal fraternity ought not to take exception, as a lawyer is authority for the incident.

Two pickpockets had been following an old gentleman who seemed a likely subject when suddenly he turned into a lawyer's office.

"What shall we do now?" asked one of the "dips."

"Wait for the lawyer," promptly replied the other.—Newark Morning Star.

The Necessary Adjuncts.

A sentimental saying running thus has gained much credence: "The hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world." At seaside towns in summer one like this should take precedence: "The hand that holds the check book is the hand that keeps us girlie."

Deferred will be the buoyant hopes mamma have kept secreted Within their hearts and unfulfilled the plans that they have planned Till daddy's handsome bank account has been by checks depleted And all the big resort hotels have been completely manned. —San Francisco Chronicle.

Musical Comedy.

No musical comedy can be a success without a girl title. We have the "Girl and the Governor," the "Girl and the Judge," and so on. The supply of girl titles is nearly exhausted, but there are a few left. We offer these freely: The "Girl and the Grindstone." The "Girl and the Chocolate Fudge." The "Girl and the Tomato Catsup."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Imagination as an Asset.

One great advantage has the man of mind imaginative (And by these odds the owner cannot but be benefited) O'er fellow men who are possessed of fancy less creative—He sees and sidesteps errors while as yet they're not committed. —Chicago Tribune.

Relieving the Famine.

A missionary stationed in a land where the natives were cannibals wrote for assistance as follows: "Our small force of brethren seems to be unable to cope with the distress which prevails in this dark and benighted land. Many of the natives are starving for food. Please send a few more missionaries."—Sunday Magazine.

Fact.

One half of the world does not know how The other half may fare, But this is nothing strange, I vow, It doesn't even care. —Cincinnati Enquirer.

MODEL IN A DOUBLE SENSE

One Quality in Wax Figure Which Convinced Mr. Jones She Would Make a Good Wife.

Mr. Jones came home at an unusually late hour the other night, and was surprised to see Mrs. Jones sitting up for him below stairs with no other light than that of the gas lamp which faced the door to keep her company.
"M-M-Marie," he said, huskily, "you shouldn't sit up 'sate when I'm out on business."

As Mrs. Jones did not answer him, he continued, in an alarmed voice:
"Sherry, m'dear, but it's last time—tell you I'm sorry—won't speak to me?"

At this moment Mrs. Jones called from above stairs:

"Mr. Jones, to whom are you talking at this hour of the night?"

"Thash what I'd like to know m-m-myself," stammered Jones.

Mrs. Jones hastened downstairs, lamp in hand. When she saw the situation, she laughed, in spite of being very angry.

"It's the model," she said. "The model I bought today to fit my dresses on!"

"Yes, thash so," said Jones, tipsily.
"Model woman—didn't talk cack.
Make some fellow good wife."

Right Giving.

Our giving must be such as truly to enrich both giver and receiver. But we can all judge these things fairly well for ourselves; if we make mistakes sometimes those mistakes will be forgiven to us where the motive was right.

Worry as a National Error.

At the door of worry are laid 50 per cent of the troubles of the American people. Scientists who have devoted themselves to a study of worry and its influence on the mind, do not hesitate to say that Americans are the worst offenders.

Reflection on Cholly.

Cholly (handing his friend's revolver gingerly)—"I suppose now if this should go off while I'm holding it like this it would blow my brains out?"
His friend—"No, it wouldn't do that, but it would bore a hole clean through your head."

POWER OF THE SEA.

Fearful Force of Ocean Waves When They Run Wild.

The average inland American who has never seen the ocean has no real idea of the force of its waves. He reads about the storm, of boats being carried away and bulwarks stove. But he does not realize the steam hammer blows that may be struck by mere water.

A recent storm on the British coasts received the official designation of a storm of "extreme force." A picture taken in Hastings harbor shows the convulsion with which the waves struck the sea wall, sending the spray apparently higher than the buildings along the street. Blocks of concrete and iron railing were torn from the new parade extension at Caroline place and tossed back into the roadway as if they had been bits of plank. Timber work that had withstood the stress of years was torn apart and carried away.
Basements were flooded along all the seaward face of the town.

Such a storm when it sweeps over a ship will sometimes carry away almost everything on deck. Deck houses are often smashed, and the lifeboats are often stove in and ruined.

Various attempts have been made to devise motors to develop power from the force of the waves. The amount of energy wasted through their lack of success is beyond estimate. If the power of the sea could be used it would drive the machinery of an unlimited number of plants.—Chicago Tribune.

READING THE FUTURE.

Foresight or Good Guessing in a Parisian Robbery Case.

One day in October, 1883, Lady A., living in Rue du Bel-Respiro, Paris, found that she had been robbed of a sum of 3,500 francs. She notified the commissary of police on Rue Berrier, who instituted a search and questioned the servants, but discovered nothing.

Lady A., when enumerating her servants, begged the commissary to exclude from his suspicions her second valet de chambre, a youth of nineteen, very good looking, very respectful and very well qualified for his duties, who had been nicknamed "le Petit," not on account of his stature, for he was rather tall, but from a feeling of delicate protecting familiarity which his good qualities had won for him.

Meanwhile among the friends of Lady A. there had been a good deal of talk about a certain Demoiselle E., who, they said, could see the most surprising things in a bowl of coffee grounds. M. L. d'Ervilleux had the curiosity to accompany his governess to the house of this person and was quite surprised to hear her describe exactly each piece of furniture in Lady A.'s apartment, pass in review her seven servants and say that, though she could not name the thief, he would be guiltless within two years.

Some weeks later "le Petit" left the service of his mistress without giving any reason, and two years later he mounted the scaffold. This servant, so highly esteemed, was none other than Marchand, the assassin.—London
Notes and Queries.

The Crested Rat.

The crested rat of East Africa is remarkable, first, because of the great length of the black and white hairs down the ridge of the back, which are rendered the more conspicuous because the hairs along the sides of the body are so short and so differently colored, being brownish gray and looking for all the world as if some one had taken a pair of scissors and maliciously shorn off the decorative hair, leaving only a dull underfur; secondly, it is remarkable because the skull has a roofing of bones exactly resembling that of some turtles, while, furthermore, this roof has a granulated appearance recalling that presented by the skulls of certain fishes. In its habits it appears to be arborescent, while from the structure of its teeth it would appear to be at least partly insectivorous.

Valid Excuse.

Our schoolteachers need no comic papers. Funny enough things come their way in the shape of letters from the parents of their pupils, as witness the following received by a teacher: "Respected Miss—Please excuse Willie for absence. He has fell downstairs, and we feared his internal insides was hurt at first, but they ain't. The doctor says that no part of anatomy was hurt but the brewing of the epydermic of the outside hide and also his hipp hurt some. But he narrowly escaped fatal death. So kindly excuse."—

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN, Food Specialist

VARIED VIEWPOINTS ON RE-STORING HEALTH.

It has been maintained in these hints that the crux of health and disease is nutrition. Mechanical systems, including osteopathy, regard the body as a machine, holding that when there is perfect action, freedom of all the parts, in harmonious action, there is health. Superfluous food clogs the machine. The remedy from this point of view is to adjust the machine, removing the mechanical obstructions with harmonious, easy action. The mental scientist regards the body as the mind's instrument and bad mental conditions as interfering with the normal discharge of its functions, some going so far as to insist that the sovereign mind can digest all foods with equal facility and overrule the effects of injuries to the machine without mechanical interference. The chemist would control physiologic processes by medication, without special reference to the mechanism. The germ theory holds that certain diseases result directly from infection, but that it may be merely incidental to deranged nutrition, as we have come to realize of consumption, diabetes, rheumatism and typhoid—each of which has its specific germ—and as I believe will soon be recognized in the case of cancer. This is important because it gives a proper viewpoint, a scientific foundation for practice of the healing art.

the back stairs will be used by the committee on arrangements until dinner time, and that the Wilson party will then descend to the public dining room of the hostelry.

Big Smoker Tonight—

Mr. Wilson is scheduled to smoke the pipe of peace at the New Willard hotel tonight. To that place he will adjourn himself immediately after the Shoreham hotel dinner, and the smoker is arranged to take place there in his honor is being prepared by men of Princeton university. He will be escorted there by a contingent of Princeton men and the evening will be spent in the usual informal manner affected by college men everywhere. There will be a lot of talk about old times at Princeton.

Prominent citizens of Washington, prominent politicians from elsewhere, students of the University of Virginia, Mr. Wilson's alma mater, and members of the local inaugural committee will be guests. The talk will be lively and the smoke of a thousand cigars will rise to the clouds as a harbinger of the morrow's ceremonies.

The men of Princeton and the University of Virginia regard Mr. Wilson as their especial protegee, and they mean to make the most of him. They look upon this smoker affair as a peculiarly auspicious opportunity for unconventional fraternization, as it will be observed, Mr. Wilson will be just a private citizen. His term as governor of New Jersey has expired, and not until tomorrow will he become president of the United States. In the interim, he will merely be an old college man. It will be the only chance he will have for four years and he probably will make the most of it.

Ceremonies Start Early—
At 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning the joint congressional committee will wait on President-elect Wilson at the hotel and conduct him to the White House. The Essex troop will act as body guard and the way will be lined with sleepy-headed Princeton and Virginia college men who have been making the night alive with sound since the smoker.

President-elect Wilson will ride in a horse-drawn carriage. Taft will receive in person the president-elect at the White House. There will be no extended reception there, however, for it will be time to start to the capitol.

Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the United States army, and his staff will escort Taft and the president-elect who will, as custom dictates, ride in the same carriage. Seated opposite to them in the barouche will be Senator Murray Crane, of Massachusetts, chairman of the joint congressional committee in charge of the inaugural day ceremonies, and Senator Augustus O. Bacon, ranking democrat of the committee. The ever-present Essex troop will be on hand as an additional escort.

Vice President-elect Thomas R. Marshall, will be in the second carriage. Seated in this conveyance will be Senator Lee S. Overman, of North Carolina, and Representative William W. Rucker, of Missouri. The Black Horse troop of Culver Military academy, of Indiana, will escort the vice presidential party.

Passing of President Taft—
As these carriages pass out of the White House grounds into Pennsylvania avenue, President William Howard Taft will take his last official look at the palace of republican power.

Trailing the vice-presidential carriage will be one carrying Representatives Wm. P. McKinley, of Illinois, and Finis J. Garrett, of Tennessee, the other two members of the joint committee.

Col. T. P. Birch, who has been chosen as military aide to the president-elect, and other attaches of the new presidential regime will follow along in order of rank.

To Take Oath at Capitol—

Governor Marshall will be sworn in as vice president and president of the senate first. This ceremony will take place in the senate chamber. Then Mr. Wilson and the members of his party will proceed to the east front of the capitol and there, standing on the platform built for him, the president-elect will be the president of the United States. Chief Justice of the United States Edward Douglas White will administer the oath of office, Judge Taft standing by in the offing, meanwhile. Then President Wilson, free forever from that cloying appendage "elect," will stand before the people and deliver his inaugural address.

The peroration of the inaugural address of the first democratic president in 20 years, having been sounded to the four winds, President Wilson and Judge, or Professor, or Mr. Taft, will re-enter the carriage which brought them to the capitol and will begin the triumphal march back to the White House.

Judge Taft will part company with President Wilson as soon as they reach the White House, and will then leave the city for Augusta.

President Wilson and his party will then take luncheon at the White House.

Parade After Luncheon—

As the inaugural parade may not start until the president is ready to review it, the luncheon will be a quick one and President Wilson and his party will adjourn speedily to the President's reviewing stand.

This reviewing stand is a very dignified structure of two long stands, one on either side of the stretch of Pennsylvania avenue, directly in front of the White House. The stand on the side opposite the White House presents a long, unbroken colonnade.

The president will probably review the entire parade, military and civic sections. As each company of soldiery comes abreast of the president's stand, it will execute "eyes left" and every head will be turned with the precision of clockwork. The parade will require several hours, but when the last marching club has passed the president will return across the lawn to the White House.

Ordinarily he would have to prepare for the inaugural ball, but not so, on this occasion. However, there probably will be something in the way of an informal reception at the White House.

English College for Women.

One of the flourishing women's colleges in England is Bedford college, which existed for many years in Baker street, London, and is now transferred to a beautiful new building in the middle of Regent's park looking on to the lake, and surrounded by lovely lawns and flower gardens; almost a realization of Tennyson's "Princess."

RESTITUTION IN PEARL OF ANTILLES

Pastor Russell Returning From Panama Preaches in Havana.

Modern Application of a Familiar Text. What the Bible Means by "Restitution Times"—The Pastor Claims Each "Time" a Year, a Thousand Altogether and a Beginning Made—Earth's Happy Day Nearing—A Little While, a Dark Hour May Intervene.

PASTOR RUSSELL

Havana, Cuba, March 2.—Pastor Russell is delighted with Cuba, and does not fail to call attention to the wide contrast between prevalent sanitary conditions and those of a short time ago, when this fair land suffered continually from yellow fever and other tropical ailments. The Pastor referred to General Wood as the one through whose energy and skill Cuba's restitution and rejuvenation came about. "Honor to whom honor is due" appears to be one of Pastor Russell's mottoes. The text was Acts 3:19-21: "Times of Restitution of all things, which God hath spoken by the mouth of all His Holy Prophets since the world began." He said:—

In Panama a week ago I saw one of the stupendous works of man in subduing the earth and making it suitable to his purposes. How wisely God has left the subduing of the earth to man. A blessing must come to humanity from mastering nature. I testified respecting the increased education of mankind through modern inventions which speak to us of the dawning of the New Era long foretold in the Bible. Today I point you to man's increasing skill along other lines. The laws of health are better understood than ever before. The laws of chemistry, applicable to nearly everything in life, are marvelously clear and greatly extended beyond anything of previous times. This increased knowledge lies close to the work of sanitation, so widely approved. The sudden influx of knowledge is a sign of the dawning of the New Day—Restitution.

Millennial Work in Cuba.
The Pastor urged his congregation to consider the wonderful transformation in their fair island an exemplification of the great work to prevail world wide shortly. It properly raises our estimation of human intelligence, and of the beneficence of the United States Government, whose agent in this transforming work was General Wood. What has taken place so markedly in Cuba is gradually being accomplished all over the world.

The Scriptures everywhere associate the glorious work of human uplift with Messiah's Kingdom. Perhaps many have expected the blessing to come in another way; nevertheless, all should see the facts and acknowledge prophetic fulfillments. Instead of being disappointed that God is using humanity for the fulfillment of His glorious promises, let us rejoice that mankind may be so wonderfully used.

Best of All—Human Restitution.
As man fell from the image and likeness of God, Restitution to him means a return to that image and likeness. Of all the Restitution wonders, this will be the grandest. Were "every prospect pleasing," and humanity vile, sinful, imperfect—mentally, morally and physically—the curse would still rest on the earth. The lifting of some of man's ignorance and superstition is by no means a realization of what is to be expected. If a taste of Divine favor and goodness be so refreshing what will the full draft be?

This message is meaningless to believers in human evolution. Dishbelieving in man's fall from the Divine image in the flesh, these must logically deny also the Redemption, and all necessity for a Savior to die for our sins. Surely they cannot count it sin to experience evolution, as they claim; and if sin has not been committed, there could be neither Redemption from sin nor Restitution to a former condition.

All such theories, therefore, are unscriptural. For this reason they are antagonistic to the Bible view: that man fell from God's image six thousand years ago; that he has passed through six great days in which there has been a reign of sin and death, induced by Satan, and still influenced by him. Under this reign, man has lost much of the Divine image, and has become more or less brutal.

Restitution was not due when Jesus gave His life as man's Redemption-price; but it is due now, for we are living in the dawn of the great Seventh Thousand-Year Day. Messiah's first work as the great King is about to be inaugurated. He is about to bind Satan—"that old serpent, the Devil." He is about to bless humanity by rolling away the curse of death.

Nothing of human Restitution is possible, however, until after the completion of the Church. So particular is this feature of God's Plan that nearly two thousand years have been devoted to it, whereas only one thousand is assigned for the uplift of mankind. God is selecting a saintly class to be His children on the highest plane of existence. These are required to be exceptional characters, and to attest their faithfulness and devotion unto death.

SUGGESTS THE POSTING OF
NOTICES OF TRAFFIC RULES.

A resident of one of the peninsula towns who has the welfare of this city and vicinity at heart suggests that notices of the traffic rules in force here be posted in several conspicuous places in the city in order that strangers may be forewarned of the requirements. He also thinks it would be better to give visitors a warning or reprimand only for a first infringement of the rules. He cited a recent case where a new comer had been haled before the mayor and fined for a breach of the traffic ordinance and said this man was so incensed by the action that he had gone farther south and was advising others not to come to Daytona, although he himself had intended to spend some time here. The traffic rules are admittedly all right, it is only a question of a policy of fining strangers for a first offense against the ordinance or of going to the extra trouble of putting them on notice of the regulations.

CRIPPLE LOST POCKETBOOK;
HOTEL PORTER RESTORED IT.

One of the many cripples now infesting the city, a man whose lower limbs are frightfully distorted, lost his pocket book last Saturday afternoon at the entrance to the F. E. C. railway passenger depot and became so excited over his loss that he claimed the first pocket book shown him, which belonged to one of the hotel porters and was not even the same color as his own. Upon an examination of the contents, however, he disclaimed ownership and his pocket-book was restored to him by Edward Knapp, porter at the Seville hotel, who had found it and had substituted the other to try the honesty of the man's claim. Being satisfied that the fellow's mistake was due to his rattled condition and that the purse he had found really belonged to the cripple, Mr. Knapp returned it to him and won his deep gratitude. The purse contained $15 in bills and the man pressed the finder to take a reward, which however he would not do.
